

MECHANICAL DESIGN ENGINEER – Mid-Level Experience

AMI Attachments Inc. is a North American manufacturer of heavy equipment attachments based in the Waterloo area.

Due to rapid growth, we are looking to expand our design team and are currently seeking a talented and experienced Mechanical Design Engineer.

Key responsibilities for this role include, but are not limited to, preparing complete mechanical designs from concept to completion and participating in modifying and implementing existing techniques and procedures. You will also be responsible for providing manufacturing support to maintain shipping dates and quality.

As an integral member of our team, you will display the motivation to be a team-player with attention to detail, as well as exhibit flexibility, adaptability and strive for continuous improvement.

To be considered for this role, you will have the following qualifications and experience:

- Knowledge in the field of heavy construction attachment design and metal fabrication.
* Required.
- CAD design experience. *An Asset.
- Autodesk / Inventor experience. *An Asset.

Please send cover letter and resume to AMI ATTACHMENTS (Attention Dwight)

dwight@amiattachments.com